The material is where it all starts, the substance that things are made of. It can be transformed to create something totally new. There are many professionals whose work in this process is essential. The skill of the carpenter, the creativity of the designer, the transformation of the manufacturer and the service of the distributor... They all find a selection of designs and finishes in Gama Duo that have been carefully prepared to enhance the value of melamine as a material for our spaces.

At Finsa we believe in the transforming power of design and we invite you to use this Inspiration Guide to discover the potential of Gama Duo for the latest trends and the spaces we live in, as much more than just a material. It is the starting point for developing new ideas, it is the tool that allows us to imagine and create.

Natural equilibrium

In a hyper-connected world that moves forward at a dizzying pace, the concern in our society to lead a healthy life is constantly increasing.

There is a direct relation between our surroundings and our well-being, so interior design is a fundamental tool for creating spaces where we feel serene and comfortable.

Materials inspired by the purest states of nature are our most obvious reference in our search for harmony. Natural wood and textiles with minimal treatment, smooth plain stone and light colours, especially shades of green, have a fundamental role in this style.

Your style, your space

Our home is our refuge, the only space where we have real control and where we can express ourselves freely.

21

Styles and fashions guide us and invite us to experiment creatively with space. We must take into account that styles are becoming less and less defined because the main overall trend is towards personalised spaces.

The choice of furniture, lighting, textiles and decorative elements make all the difference when creating a unique setting that expresses our values and desires.

Everything in order

45

Order and cleanliness are more contemporary than ever. An orderly home helps us to better organize our time and therefore contributes to increasing our happiness.

Storage systems and elements adapt to our new requirements and enable us to keep our belongings hidden or in view, but always within reach and under control. This is why design is so important.

Style and order are perfectly compatible. Traditional fabrics and leather applied to interiors leave space for the visual force of wood and the industrial character of metal.

Better together

60

Meeting places, whether public or private, for leisure or work, need to be redefined for the digital age.

We are more comfortable in surroundings that help us socialize but also help us to focus and enjoy a certain degree of privacy.

Modular systems offer flexibility, comfortable armchairs that let us feel at home, lively colours that inspire creativity, large tables that invite us to share... these are all essential ingredients to encourage us to interact with each other.
